The 2005 Utah Arts Festival is Currently Seeking Volunteers

28 Apr 2005

The 2005 Utah Arts Festival is currently looking for 1,000 volunteers ages 16 and up to assist with various Festival activities such as set up, concessions, interactive projects and assisting with children's activities.

"The volunteers are the heart and soul of the Festival," says UAF Director of Volunteers Kaye Wankier. "Without them the Festival would never happen."

Volunteers are needed in all types of roles and are able to pick an activity that best fits their personality, from face painting and selling concessions to educating the public on the need to recycle and booth sitting for artists.

Besides open Festival hours, volunteers are also needed before and after the Festival to help build it and tear it down.

On the morning of June 25, volunteers are also needed to assist with the 5K Art Attack Fun Run.

"Volunteering at the Festival is a great experience," says Wankier. "We have many people who have volunteered for years and now their children are starting to volunteer."

Want to attend the 29th annual Utah Arts Festival for free?

It's easy, simply sign up to be a

Festival volunteer.

All volunteers receive a free T-shirt and free admission to the Festival on the days that they volunteer.

In addition all volunteers will receive one extra ticket for a friend or family member. Volunteers willing to work the 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. shifts will receive two extra tickets.

Since its inception in 1977, UAF has grown from 106 artists, performers, and vendors, to more than 1,000 participants, and now attracts close to 80,000 patrons each year.

The Festival is built with the assistance of the community, which has become an integral part of its success, and a fun way for people to get involved.

Volunteers are needed starting Friday, June 17 through Tuesday, June 28, and will generally work three to five hour shifts.

To become a Festival volunteer or get more information, call the volunteer hotline at (801) 322-5912.

The 2005 UAF at Library Square is open from noon to 11 p.m., Thursday, June 23, through Sunday, June 26, at 200 E. and 400 South.

For more information about the Festival and becoming a volunteer, call (801) 322-2428 or visit www.uaf.org.
